What is an extension nipple?

An extension nipple is a metal fitting featuring an internal thread on one end and an external threaded section on the other end.

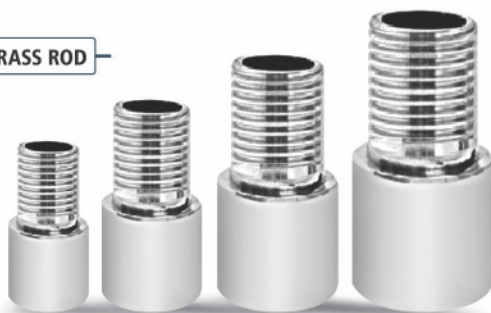

Use of extension nipples : The extension nipple comes in handy while connecting internal elbow joints to external faucets and taps through thick layers of concrete or tiles, where the increased length is required.

Products such as extension nipples are parts of finished plumbing as much as any other fittings, the quality of these products plays a very important part in making sure that there is no leakage or dampness in the structure in the long run.

Sanjay Chilly ensures :

Strong thread grip that prevents seepage, drips, and leaks. | Excellent polishing and plating standards. | Top-quality material, hence no breakage.
